How do our Enteral Therapy services work?

Once an order is placed with us, one of our Enteral Equipment Technicians will meet the patient at the hospital to set up the feeding pump. They will provide step-by-step instructions for setting up, using, cleaning, and troubleshooting the equipment.

Within the first few days of the patient's discharge, one of our dietitians will follow-up with the family by phone to collect data related to weight and intake and answer any questions the family may have. The dietitian will then provide regularly scheduled follow-ups depending on a patient's plan of care and continue to monitor the patient's growth and progress.

Why are these services beneficial?

Our hands-on set-up process, trainings, and regularly scheduled calls with our dietitian provide the family members the knowledge and education they need to ensure they're comfortable providing essential nutrition to the patient.

Moving Forward

We have expanded our service lines to include Private Duty Nursing Visits. This service benefits our enteral patients by allowing us to visit them in person to check the equipment, perform weight checks, and answer questions.
